The Copper Canvas

Adam Colangelo

Artist Statement

My artistic process emphasizes the transformative nature of copper, and highlights my ability to honour its natural behaviour. Existing somewhere between painting and sculpture, my work uses copper as a canvas. I use the reactive properties of copper as a creative language to reveal unexpected textures, colours, and forms.

Bio

Adam Colangelo is an artist based in the Niagara region best known for his atmospheric and quietly dynamic copper pieces. His work is included in residential, commercial, hospitality, and healthcare environments in North America, Europe, and Asia.
