From Water to Sky

Lynn Cecil

Artist Statement

Working in alcohol ink on canvas is a very kinetic process with a range of motion that goes from sweeping arm movements to slower, detailed manipulation of the ink. I feel immersed in the artwork, not only while working on the canvases, but afterwards, when they are completed, as if I am diving in an ocean over coral reefs, viewing a cloudscape or deep space, or approaching a wooded shore from a lake.

As viewing and responding to art is a such a personal experience, I hope you will find your own connections to "From Water to Sky."

Bio

Lynn Cecil is a Canadian artist whose work has been exhibited in over fifty solo and group shows in art galleries, restaurants, wineries, hospitals, and design studios, in Ontario, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. Her artwork has been sold internationally to collectors in the United States, Asia, Europe, Australia, the UK, and the Caribbean. Having lived in St. Catharines for five years, Lynn feels a special connection to the Niagara region. Mostly self-taught, Lynn worked in oils on canvas for years but now works almost exclusively in alcohol inks on canvas.
